What is NN (really brief overview)

Proposed structure of NN

NN within PHIRI

NN and Health Information Platform

Further steps and deadlines

What is a National node?

- A national liaison that brings together relevant national stakeholders in the country's health information system in a systematic way.

- Fosters discussion and collaboration at national and international level.

- NN shall encourage stakeholders to:
  - Share expertise at regional/national level
  - Share ongoing activities at regional/national level
 - Update on initiatives, meetings and expert groups at EU level

Structure of NN

- Structure depends on national organisation of HI stakeholders
- Core group: institutes mainly involved in population health information activities
- Two levels:
  - Those who work directly with data (e.g. research institutes).
 - Those who use data for policy and decision making.

National nodes within PHIRI

- Task 4.2: National node Coordination and Promotion
  - Lead by NIJZ (SI) and Sciensano (BE),
  - Partners: THL, CDPC, ISS, DGS/UNL, NIHD
- Objective: to promote and coordinate the sustainable network of national nodes
- Task 4.2 will encourage the set-up and further promotion of national nodes. This task will
  - coordinate the activities of national nodes,
  - building a catalogue of national nodes, their actors and their main activities, starting with a meeting of national coordinators.
  - The sustainability plan for further work of national nodes will be prepared.
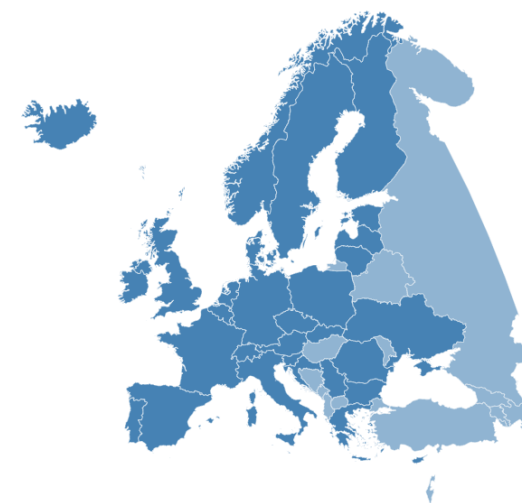

PHIRI T4.2 – milestones and deliverables

- The milestones in the life course of PHIRI
  - Meeting with national nodes coordinators: M9, M18, M27, M36
  - National nodes input for Sustainability Plan: M36

- Deliverable of T4.2
  - A catalogue of national nodes with detail description on Health Information portal (M12)
